

Nursing Assistant Certified

This comprehensive training course provides basic awareness of the role of the nursing assistant in nursing care and skill development in the several facets of that care. Nursing Assistants are qualified to work under the direction of registered nurses and licensed practical nurses and assist in the care of patients in hospitals, clinics, and nursing homes. Includes maintaining a safe environment for the patient, restorative care, communicating with patients, and basic concepts of care.

Students can register for this class in the registration office on campus. Students need to pay for the class at the time of registration. Students who are not pursuing a degree program or taking other classes at Centralia College do not have to visit the counseling center or take a placement test.
