Centralia College is committed to student success, academic excellence, and supporting the community in an inclusive and equitable learning environment. Outstanding Students, as living examples of the Centralia College mission, are chosen each year for overcoming obstacles in the pursuit of their degree, for achieving their educational goals, and for being an active and engaged member of the college community.

Lauren Burnett represented Centralia College on the 2022 All-Washington Academic Team and in the Washington State Championship for Public Speaking, where she placed in the top five for her inspirational speech. She has been an active member in the Speech Club, Phi Theta Kappa, YoungLife, and varsity cheer at Morton High School, where she is the class president and class valedictorian.

Joshua Christensen has persevered through numerous personal and college challenges to finish his degree at Centralia College with nearly a 4.0 GPA. Joshua received support through many important people on campus as he proceeded through his degree and decided to give back by serving as a peer mentor in Blazer Central. He is a member of Phi Theta Kappa and the Gender and Sexuality Alliance Club.

Ana Encina-Estrada is the perfect representation of a non-traditional student balancing life while excelling in college. Ana is a mother of three who provides support to numerous other family members all while completing her bachelor’s degree. Ana serves as the Veteran’s Center coordinator, president of the Veteran’s Club, president of the Latino Unidos Club, and vice president of the Medical Assistant Club. She is also a peer mentor in Blazer Centralia and a member of the Art Club and Phi Theta Kappa.

Isaac Pope is a very accomplished young man who has excelled as a Running Start student at Centralia College. While completing his degree and preparing to transfer to Colorado School of Mines, he has received numerous awards, including being recognized as the All-USA Academic Team, Lemke Scholar, numerous scholarships, and has been on the President’s List many times. In addition to his exceptional academic performance, he serves as the secretary of the Speech Club, president of Phi Theta Kappa, and as a STEM tutor.

Jun Wang 王俊 started at Centralia College as an international student from China pursuing an Associate in Arts degree and leaves Centralia College as the very first international student to receive a bachelor’s degree. While Jun successfully completed her degrees, she was involved in the cultural café events, represented her country at student events and club fairs, and volunteered at her children’s school.

Exceptional Faculty Awards

In 1990, the Centralia College Foundation, through the generosity of the community, raised more than $50,000 during a one-year span, earning a matching grant from the state to create the Exceptional Faculty Endowment of $100,000.

The Centralia College Foundation selected Joe Burr and Brian Rauscher to receive the 2022 Exceptional Faculty Awards for their commitment to and excellence in their subject areas, and participation in campus activities, civic organizations, community service, and/or professional organization.

2022 Distinguished Alumni

Lynne Clark Thompson, Ed.D.

The Centralia College Foundation has selected retired Air Force Colonel Lynne Clark Thompson, Ed.D. as the 2022 Distinguished Alumnus. Col. Thompson is a 1970 graduate of Centralia College who served more than 44 years in the Department of Defense, both in the USAF and in Federal Civil Service primarily as an educator and administrator.

Lynne graduated from Centralia High School and attended Centralia College for his first two years of college. “Centralia College was life-changing for me,” he shared. “I was introverted in high school and I realized I needed to grow beyond that stereotype. Centralia College provided me opportunities to do that.”

After graduating from CC, Lynne earned his bachelor’s degree in speech and communications at the College of the Ozarks in Missouri and enlisted in the Air Force. “That was during the Vietnam war. I thought I’d do my patriotic duty and be out in four years,” he said. “Instead, I served in the Air Force for almost 32 years.”

Initially, Lynne became a linguist and later completed Officer Training School. After being commissioned in 1973, he successfully trained to navigate B-52 aircraft and, in less than five years, became an instructor who was responsible for maintaining the proficiency of radar navigators at Andersen Air Force Base in Guam. Lynne earned his master’s degree in sociology from Pepperdine University in 1979.

He went on to serve at Headquarters, Strategic Air Command, the Pentagon, and the Joint Strategic Target Planning Staff (JSTPS). At JSTPS, he was the Deputy Chief of the Analysis and Simulation Division — the office that analyzed all U.S. strategic nuclear war plans. In 1991, he was selected to be on an elite, five-person team charged with making the U.S. Strategic Command a reality.

After graduating from Air War College at Maxwell Air Force Base, he became the Director of Plans and Programs, Ira C. Eaker College for Professional Development, Air University, Maxwell AFB. Col. Thompson introduced computer-based instruction, web-based data gathering, and created a leadership course for lieutenant colonels selected to become squadron commanders.

In 1997, he was transferred to the Pentagon, where he oversaw Air Force policies for modeling and simulation. In 1999, Col. Thompson was selected to teach leadership at the Industrial College of the Armed Forces at National Defense University, Washington, D.C. After two years, he was named the college’s Associate Dean of Faculty and Academic Programs.

In 2003, he was awarded a doctorate of education from The George Washington University and, subsequently, was selected to become Dean of Students and Administration at the Information Resources Management College, National Defense University, a position he kept after retiring from the Air Force in December 2003.

In 2004, he joined the faculty at The Eisenhower School for National Security and Resource Strategy, National Defense University as a professor of Behavioral Science. He went on to chair the Department of Strategic Leadership. The university president identified Dr. Thompson’s Strategic Leadership Development course as one of the two best courses at the university.

You’ve done it! Now it’s time to celebrate your academic achievement. We would like to join with your family and friends to congratulate you on this grand milestone in your life. You’ve met your goals to this point, and all of us at Centralia College and the Centralia College Foundation are proud to have played a part in your success.

As you look back on these moments, we’re sure you’ll remember those who helped you succeed. Family and friends offered support and encouragement, and faculty and staff were there to make sure your educational objectives were addressed. There may have even been people you never met who helped make this day a reality through their generosity and kindness.

You’ve now gone from student to alumnus of Centralia College, and we’d like to remain a part of your success and your future. We hope you’ll keep in touch via the Alumni Association, and stay informed as the campus grows and blossoms. Someday, after all, it may be your generosity and compassion that helps another young person experience the joy and satisfaction you’ve earned today.

We’re honored to salute you and all you’ve accomplished at Centralia College. We hope to share the successes and victories we’re confident your future will bring.

The Centralia College Ceremonial Mace

Ceremonial maces have been carried in college and university academic processions for centuries. The first dated record of such solemnities goes back to Vienna University in 1385.

During a summer study tour of England in 1992, Dr. Henry Kirk, President, and Dr. John Pratt, English faculty, were impressed by the ceremonial mace collections. A committee was formed to explore the development of a ceremonial mace for Centralia College. Committee members included Philip Meany, Librarian; Neena Stoskopf, Director of Admissions and Records; Rich Henry, Director of Computer Services; Rob Nesland, student; and Dr. Henry Kirk, President.

Bill Batie, former science instructor and dean, and Bob MacCannell, former community services instructor, both accomplished woodworkers, designed and constructed the mace and cabinet in late 1993. The mace was first used in the 1994 ceremonies. It is carried by the senior faculty member each year.

Alma Mater

To thee with loyal hearts

Let our praises ring;

‘Though the time does quickly glide

Yet our mem’ries cling.

When doors behind us close,

You will carry on

As in the days gone past

When first we sang our song.

Stewart West, 1939
